

PROFILE

KATJA MÜLLER

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Before her coaching and teaching career, Katja worked as a team leader for Volkswagen on EU-funded projects. Since then, she has broadened her overview of different industries by coaching leaders and teams in sectors ranging from non-profit to aerospace, medicine, education, technology and banking. Especially in difficult circumstances, clients appreciate her optimistic, sunny personality, her contagious belief in human potential and her love for life.

AREAS OF SPECIALTY

Executive Coaching & Leadership Development

Katja has advanced knowledge in experiential learning, coaching and leadership development. As well as her University degrees, she also has an additional diploma, through her professorship, on the subject Workshop Facilitation Training. Katja is an ICF standard certified Leadership (CPCC and ACC) and Team Coach (ORSC). She is also a proud faculty member for the Coaches Training Institute (CTI), for whom she globally trains other coaches. As Katja also has a passion for growing high potentials, she serves as a bilingual Executive, Team Coach and Workshop leader on Executive MBA programmes at the Mannheim Business School as well as for the ESSEC Business School in Paris. All of Katja's work aims to make a positive difference in how people relate to themselves and others. She empowers people to own their unique, conscious leadership style.

Psychology

With four degrees, Katja has a strong academic background in Psychology and Education. In her position as a Psychology professor for over 14 years, she has fostered her passion for understanding and maximising human potential. She has sharpened her talent for translating complex ideas into easy to understand models and tools that have practical wisdom, empower people in the corporate world to create higher levels of trust and that align them with their unique capabilities and passion.

CLIENTS

In the past few years, Katja has trained and coached executives from companies such as British Airways, Intel Deutschland, KPMG, SAP and many more.
